Approved For Release 2005/12/23 : CIA-RDP84-00499R000100110005-9

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY OFFICE OF NATIONAL ESTIMATES

11 October 1962

MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

SUBJECT: Recommissance Over Cubm - Overt or Covert?

MOTE: The following are conclusions reached by a panel of four officers of OME

Adventages of Covert over Overt

- Avoidance of certain adverse repercussions arising from the Presidential announcement;
 - a. The unrevorable propagands barrage -- it would not be possible to win in propagands terms on what would be universally regarded as an illegal and aggressive act.
 - b. Pessible UN action of condemnation which could result in a painful desertion of the US by its allies.
 - c. A pessible Soviet reaction that the USSR must increase its overt commitment to Castro's defense.
 - 2. In the event of loss of an aircraft under conditions other than the "worst case" the possibility of plausible denial would remain open.

Advantages of Overt over Covert

- 3. In the event am aircraft is shot down even in the circumstances of the "worst case" the tensions might be more manageable. The Soviets, and world opinion, would not fear that the US, having previously amnounced an overflight policy, would then take a shootdown as a pretext for invasion.
- world an increased sense of the gravity with which the US views developments in Cuba. If the Seviets have been considering the installation of MRSM's* they might be at least temporarily deterred from this action. Some other states might bring pressure on the USSR -- as well as the US -- to exercise restraint in the situation.

SHERMAN KENT Chairman Roard of Entional Estimates

2.5 th bution:
Approved For Release 2995/12/23 7 CIA-RDP84-00499R00010011009579/2 - h/e
1-20/P SECTET 2-0NE

^{*} You are well aware that we feel this to be an unlikely move in the near future. We are in the process of preparing you a memorandum setting forth our views at length.